ABOUT

JAMES KLOPOVIC has built a successful career, and a successful life focusing on the very best in people.

After retiring from a distinguished career of 20 years as a Major in the United States Air Force he continues helping cultivate the next generation of New Wave Leaders with values and character-based education.

James holds a DPP in Public Policy and continues to work with government and business leadership in building up our communities to better support and develop the young minds who follow us. It is called New Wave Leadership

Serving as senior staff for the North Carolina Governor's Crime Commission for over 25 years, his work continues to build safer communities and schools, decriminalize mental illness, and improve learning environments for those at risk.

He has authored numerous books and publications regarding effective delivery of public services. He builds permanent answers to permanent problems.

MY AUDIENCE

Becoming a New Wave Leader reaches those who are interested in balance in the day, meaning in life and leaving a legacy for their family. Those looking to declutter the typhoon of advice on how to achieve a life worth living. Those looking for practical processes for becoming your holistic, best self and a resilient person and leader.

“A deeply compelling argument for values in leadership. In a troubled age the message of Jim Klopovic’s Becoming A New Wave Leader is less new than eternally relevant and more important than ever. Brilliantly crafted, entertaining and instructive, a must-read for current and future leaders.”

— Stanly McChrystal, General, USA, Ret., Partner, McChrystal Group

“Becoming a New Wave leader confirmed many of my beliefs about how to lead a successful company but also gave me many other ways to consider leadership. All business leaders need to read this well written and researched book. It may be more relevant in today’s world than at any other time in history.”
